Monitoring Report
CC Docket No. 87-339
May 1996

Introduction and Summary

This is the eighteenth report of a series of reports intended to help telecommunications policy makers and the general public monitor the impact of decisions adopted by the Federal Communications Commission (Commission), initially stemming from the Federal-State Joint Board in CC Docket No. 80-286 (Separations Joint Board) in 1987. These included increased subscriber line charges, expanded federal lifeline assistance programs, retargeted high cost assistance, and a modified common line pooling system. To enhance our monitoring ability, a new open docket¹ was created, which allows data, materials, comments, and studies to be submitted at any time. In 1992, the Commission extended the monitoring program an additional five years, with annual reports to be released in May of each year from 1993 through 1997.² Since 1992, the Monitoring Report has been used to monitor the effect of the above-mentioned decisions, and to report on carriers' revenues, expenses, investments, infrastructure, and new services, and rates for interstate toll usage.

This report has proven to be valuable in more ways than merely reporting the effects of regulatory changes. The Monitoring Report brings together in one place a wealth of information on our national telecommunications system, including valuable breakdowns by state and by company. The Telecommunications Act of 1996, signed into law on February 8, 1996, is expected to bring many changes in the telecommunications industry and the way it is regulated. One of the first changes was the creation of a new Federal-State Joint Board in CC Docket No. 96-45 (Universal Service Joint Board) to make recommendations relating to universal service issues. Although this report was designed for the Separations Joint Board, we expect the monitoring needs of the two Joint Boards to overlap. Therefore, we have included in this report a few new pieces of information that should be of value to both Joint Boards in light of the new legislation.

This report presents data in each of the eight subject categories selected for monitoring,³ which are: (1) subscribership and penetration levels; (2) lifeline assistance plans; (3) high cost assistance; (4) network usage and growth; (5) rates; (6) revenues, expenses and investment; (7) pooling; and (8) infrastructure and new services.

Since our May 1995 monitoring report, new information in each of the eight categories has become available and is incorporated in this report. The following are highlights of some of the new material. Section 1 includes subscribership information for 1995. It also includes, for the first time, a table summarizing changes in state penetration rates since 1984, and new charts showing the distribution of penetration rates by race, income level, household size, householder's age, and labor force status. Section 2 includes the latest available data on the Lifeline and Link-Up America programs. Section 3 includes data from last September's universal service fund filing. It also includes a summary of four years of revised historical data, and a table showing study area changes in the last four years. It also includes, for the first time, a table showing the estimated impacts of dial equipment minute (DEM) weighting. Section 4 includes the latest available network usage data and five years of revised historical data. State totals are reported for the first time. Section 5 includes Consumer Price Index (CPI) and Producer Price Index (PPI) data through April 1996 and other updated rate information. Section 6 includes information on revenues, expenses and investment for 1995 from the Commission's Automated Reporting Management Information System (ARMIS) reports. Section 7 includes updated information on the NECA pools. Section 8 includes the latest available data on infrastructure from the ARMIS reports.

The Joint Board recommended that as much of the report as possible be made available electronically. This has been implemented by having the text and the tables in the report available through the FCC-State Link electronic bulletin board, which can be reached by dialing (202) 418-0241. The Joint Board further recommended that information received well in advance of the next Monitoring Report be made available on an interim basis in separate staff reports. This is also done whenever possible.

The deadline for submission of information for each future monitoring report will be on April 15 of each year. Despite this deadline, the staff intends to report all filings made in the docket at the earliest possible time. While materials filed after the formal cutoff date will continue to be included whenever possible, filings received after the deadline will usually appear in the next report. For ease of public reference, we ask that parties submitting materials for the docket provide a duplicate copy to the Public Reference Room of the Common Carrier Bureau,⁴ where copies of all materials filed in the docket are available for public reference.

1. Subscribership and Penetration Levels

The number and percentage of households that have telephone service represent the most basic measures of the extent of universal service. Continuing analysis of telephone penetration statistics allows us to examine the aggregate effects of Commission actions on households' decisions to maintain, acquire or drop telephone service. This section presents comprehensive data on telephone penetration statistics collected by the Bureau of the Census under contract with the Federal Communications Commission. Along with telephone penetration statistics for the United States and each of the states from November 1983 to November 1995, data are provided on penetration based on various demographic characteristics.

The most widely used measure of telephone availability is the percentage of households with telephone service -- sometimes called a measure of telephone "penetration". Prior to the 1980s, precise measurements of telephone subscribership received little attention. Traditionally, telephone penetration was measured by dividing the number of residential telephone lines by the number of households. With some households adding second telephone lines and with an increasing number of second homes, measures of penetration based on the number of residential lines became subject to a large margin of error. By 1980, the traditional penetration measure (residential lines divided by the number of households) reached 96%, while the number of households reporting that they had telephones in the 1980 census was 92.9%.

Recognizing the need for precise periodic measurements of subscribership, the FCC requested that the Bureau of the Census include questions on telephones as part of its Current Population Survey (CPS), which monitors demographic trends between the decennial censuses. This survey is a staggered panel survey in which the people residing at particular addresses are included for four consecutive months in one year and the same four months in the following year. Use of the Current Population Survey has several advantages -- it is conducted every month by an independent and expert agency, the sample is large and the questions are consistent. Thus, changes in the results can be compared over time with a great deal of confidence.

Unfortunately, the results of the CPS cannot be directly compared with the penetration figures contained in the 1980 and 1990 decennial censuses. This is because differences in the sampling and survey methodologies exist and because of differences in the context in which the questions were asked. The 1990 decennial census reported 94.8% of all households in the United States have telephones, whereas the CPS data show a penetration rate of 93.3% for 1990. This difference is statistically significant and appears to indicate that the CPS value may be on the low side and the decennial census value may be on the high side, with the truth lying somewhere in between.

The specific questions asked in the CPS are: "Is there a telephone in this house/apartment?" and, if the answer to the first question is "no", "Is there a telephone elsewhere on which people in this household can be called?" If the answer to the first question is "yes", the household is counted as having a telephone "in unit". If the answer to either the first or second question is "yes", the household is counted as having a telephone "available". Although the survey is conducted every month, not all questions are asked every month. The telephone questions are asked once every four months, in the month that a household is first included in the sample and in the month that the household reenters the sample a year later. Since the sample is staggered, the information that is reported for any given month actually reflects responses over the preceding four months. Aggregated summaries of the responses are reported to the FCC, based on the surveys conducted through March, July, and November of each year. This information is published in a report, "Telephone Subscribership in the United States," which is generally released a few months after the final month of each four-month survey period.

The Census Bureau data are based on a nationwide sample of about 58,000 households. Because a sample is used, the estimates are subject to sampling error. For the nationwide totals, changes in telephone penetration between consecutive reports of less than or equal to 0.5% may be due to sampling error and cannot be regarded as statistically significant. As explained below, when comparing the same month in two consecutive years, changes of less than or equal to 0.4% are not statistically significant. When comparing annual averages, changes of less than 0.3% are not statistically significant. The annual averages are the average of the three surveys of the year in question. For individual states or other subgroups of the U.S. population, the amount of sampling variability is much greater.

The data in this section are not seasonally adjusted. Seasonal analysis of the data indicates that, for the nation as a whole, there is no significant seasonal variation in the "telephone available" statistics. There is, however, a significant seasonal pattern in the "telephone in unit" statistics. This pattern, after allowing for the effects of the upward trend in the data, is an increase of 0.2% from November to March, followed by a decrease of 0.1% from March to July, followed by a decrease of 0.1% from July to November.

Census Bureau figures for November 1995, the most recent data available, show that the percentage of households subscribing to telephone service is 93.9%, which is up 0.1% from November 1994, but still 0.3% below the maximum reached in 1993. These differences are not statistically significant. As a result of the higher penetration rate and an increasing number of households, 0.5 million households were added to the nation's telephone system between November 1994 and November 1995. The annual average penetration rate for 1995 was also 93.9%, which is up 0.1% from the 1994 annual average. This increase is not statistically significant.

This section includes figures showing subscribership percentages by state, by householder's age and race, by household size, by income, and for individual adults by labor force status. The November 1995 data for individual adults show that 95.0% of those adults in the civilian noninstitutionalized population have a telephone in their household. This figure is up 0.4% from the November 1994 level. This increase is not statistically significant. The annual average penetration rate for individual adults for 1995 was also 95.0%, which is up 0.5% from the 1994 annual average. This increase is statistically significant.

This section contains twelve tables and eight charts presenting penetration statistics for various geographic and demographic characteristics. The charts and the first two tables present summaries of the available information. Tables 1.3 through 1.7 present more detailed information. In these tables, only the annual averages are included for the years 1984 through 1993. March, July, and November data for those years are available in previous subscribership reports or Monitoring Reports in CC Docket No. 87-339. Tables 1.8 through 1.12 provide information necessary to determine the statistical significance of changes in the penetration rates over time.

Table 1.1 summarizes the telephone penetration for the United States, combining information on the number of households with the penetration rates.

Chart 1.1 depicts the nationwide penetration rates for households graphically over time.

Table 1.2 summarizes the telephone penetration rates by state, showing the 1984 and 1995 annual averages, the change between those two years, and an indication as to whether that change is statistically significant. The statistical significance of a change is determined not only by the magnitude of that change, but also by the sizes of the samples used to estimate the change.

Chart 1.2 depicts the states with average 1995 penetration rates more than 1% below the national average, within 1% of the national average, or more than 1% above the national average.

Chart 1.3 depicts changes in household penetration rates by state between the 1984 and 1995 annual averages. States with statistically significant increases are shown, along with other states with increases, states with decreases, and states with significant decreases.

Chart 1.4 depicts the relationship between telephone penetration and household income, using average penetration rates for 1995, for all households, and for households headed by white, black, and Hispanic persons.

Chart 1.5 depicts the relationship between telephone penetration and household size, using average penetration rates for 1995, for all households, and for households headed by white, black, and Hispanic persons.

Chart 1.6 depicts the relationship between telephone penetration and householder's age, using average penetration rates for 1995, for all households, and for households headed by white, black, and Hispanic persons.

Chart 1.7 depicts the relationship between telephone penetration and labor force status for civilian noninstitutionalized adults, using average penetration rates for 1995, for all households, and for white, black, and Hispanic persons.

Chart 1.8 depicts the nationwide penetration rates for civilian noninstitutionalized adults graphically over time.

Table 1.3 shows the Current Population Survey responses for the United States and for each state beginning with November 1983. Because the Current Population Survey began collecting this data only in 1983, comparable values are not available prior to November 1983. For each of the surveys, the column headed "Unit" indicates the percentage of households for which there is a telephone in the housing unit. The column headed "Avail." indicates the percentage of households which have telephone service available for incoming calls, either in the housing unit or elsewhere.

Table 1.4 shows the nationwide penetration rates for households by income and the race of the householder. It shows a strong relationship between income and penetration. Caution should be taken in comparing these figures over time, because these income levels are not adjusted for inflation. Thus, the same nominal income level at two points in time will reflect different real incomes in terms of purchasing power. Also, the income categories have changed over time due to the changing value of the dollar. Consequently, we have not included a summary table showing penetration changes by income levels over time.

Table 1.5 shows the nationwide penetration rates for households by the size of the household and the race of the householder. It shows that penetration is highest for households of 2 to 5 people.

Table 1.6 shows the nationwide penetration rates for households by the age and race of the householder. It shows that the penetration rate is lowest for young and non-white households.

Table 1.7 shows the nationwide penetration rates for all persons that are at least 15 years old in the civilian noninstitutionalized population by their race and employment status. Since this table is for individual adults rather than households, the total penetration rates are different from those in the previous tables. It shows that penetration is lowest among the unemployed.

Tables 1.8 through 1.12 present the critical values at the 95% confidence level for testing the statistical significance of changes over time in the earlier tables. These critical values are relevant because changes less than or equal to the values shown are likely to be due to sampling error and thus cannot be regarded as demonstrating that a change in telephone penetration has occurred. In some cases these critical values are very large because the sample sizes are very small for these subcategories, rendering the estimated penetration rates unreliable. Because there is an overlap of half of the sample from year to year, but no overlap in the sample between surveys that are four months apart, annual changes are less subject to variations in sampling error. Consequently the critical values should be multiplied by 0.8 when making a comparison for the same month in two consecutive years. When comparing the annual averages, the critical values should be multiplied by 0.5774, since these averages are based on three surveys and hence have a lower standard error. When comparing annual averages of two consecutive years, the critical values should be multiplied by .46, taking into account both of the above factors.

2. Lifeline Assistance Plans

The Communications Act of 1996 requires the FCC to evaluate Universal Service programs. The Commission, in Docket 96-45, NPRM and Order Establishing a Joint Board, March 8, 1996, initiated the proceeding required by the Act. Because no decisions have yet been made in that new docket, this section reviews the operation of the previously established lifeline programs. In 1984, the Joint Board and the FCC established lifeline assistance programs to ensure that low-income subscribers do not drop off the telephone network. The FCC is monitoring subscriber participation and telephone usage to determine program benefits and costs.¹ Table 2.1 lists the entities that have been certified by the FCC and the dates of their certification.

The FCC, in conjunction with the states and local telephone companies, has established lifeline programs which are designed to promote universal service by helping low income individuals afford telephone service. The programs, funded through charges ultimately paid by interstate ratepayers, reflect matching local rate reductions approved by state utility commissions, and may take the form of a reduction in monthly charges or a reduction in service connection and installation charges. After state programs are certified by the FCC, local exchange carriers are reimbursed through the National Exchange Carrier Association (NECA) for program expenses. These expenses are not funded by federal tax dollars.

Lifeline certification rules require participating entities to verify subscriber eligibility annually. Local exchange companies rely on state established means tests to meet FCC verification requirements. Annual recertification of both lifeline and Link-Up programs by the FCC is contingent upon the income eligibility criteria established in the initial letter to participating states and local exchange carriers.

Table 2.2 provides a list of states participating in the Link-Up program and shows both reimbursements and the number of subscribers receiving assistance between January 1995 and December 31, 1995. Table 2.3 provides a similar survey of states participating in the lifeline programs.²

Under lifeline and Link-Up America programs, benefits are available to persons who pass a "means" test such as eligibility for food stamps or Medicaid. A second requirement for FCC certification is that each applicant's eligibility for benefits be verified. The states have considerable latitude in selecting means tests, shaping the benefits, and determining the geographic availability of the programs. Table 2.4 provides a description of the income means test used by each state utility commission or local telephone company.

Based on the recommendation of the Federal-State Joint Board, the FCC has made available the following three optional federal lifeline assistance plans:

Plan 1 - On December 19, 1984, the FCC adopted an optional plan which allows a total reduction in fixed charges for telephone service equal to the federal subscriber line charge (SLC) for low-income households satisfying a state determined means test subject to verification. This is accomplished by a 50% reduction in the SLC. States wishing to take advantage of this assistance mechanism are required to implement an equal monetary reduction in the local exchange rate for those low income households to be funded from state sources. The assistance is available for a single telephone line for the principal residence of eligible households.

Plan 2 - On December 10, 1985, the FCC adopted broader lifeline assistance measures for low-income households providing for a total reduction in fixed charges for telephone service of twice the amount of the SLC. This reduction would be achieved through a waiver of the full federal SLC up to the amount matched by state assistance, provided that the state plan meets the following federal requirements:

- a) means test -- highly targeted assistance plan which focuses on those individuals with limited incomes;
- b) subject to verification -- procedures must be established which routinely check to ensure that those individuals eligible under the plans are the individuals benefiting under the plan;
- c) availability -- for a single telephone line for the principal residence of eligible households.

The state matching contribution can be in the form of reduced local service rates, reduced connection charges or reduced deposit requirements. No restrictions are imposed on the source of funding for state assistance.

Plan 3 - On April 16, 1987, the FCC adopted a two-part plan, Link-Up America, to connect low income households to the telephone network. Under the first part, federal assistance is provided to pay one-half of the connection charges, up to a maximum of $30.00 in benefits, assessed for commencing telephone service.

Under the second part, when a local exchange company (LEC) offers a deferred payment plan, not to exceed 12 months, for service commencement charges and it does not assess the subscribers any interest charges, federal assistance is available to that LEC to cover the interest on costs of up to $200.

On June 23, 1988, the FCC adopted a Notice of Proposed Rule Making in CC Docket No. 88-341, which proposed eliminating the requirement that consumers requesting to be included in the Link-Up America program have lived at an address where there has not been telephone service for the last three months and have not received Link-Up benefits in the last two years. This Notice was adopted in response to waiver requests from the States of Maine and New York. Some telephone companies had declined to participate in the program due to the existence of non-means-based eligibility criteria. The Commission was concerned that the three-month and two-year eligibility rules were discouraging participation in Link-Up America. Data from a pilot program indicated that approximately 15 percent of Link-Up applicants had been rejected for failure to meet the three-month rule. Therefore, the Commission proposed eliminating these rules for states and telephone companies that verify income eligibility but retaining these rules and requiring prior service verification in cases in which income eligibility is not verified.

On February 27, 1989, the FCC adopted and released a revision of the Link-Up America rules which eliminated two non-income criteria. Connection assistance is available for one telephone line per household, at a subscriber's principal place of residence. To become eligible for assistance when income is verified, a residential subscriber must meet the requirements of the state established income test, and not be a dependent, unless the subscriber is more than 60 years old. Alternatively, when income is not verified, a resident may self-certify according to the criteria stated above. However, the entity receiving certification (state or company) must verify that the customer has lived at an address where there has been no telephone service for at least three months, and has not received assistance within the last two years.

The Link-Up America rules encourage, but do not require, states to match the federal benefits and cover the remaining half of the connection charges. The states and LECs are encouraged to develop deferred payment plans for service commencement charges as well as to provide reductions in, or waivers of, security deposit requirements for low income customers who do not have poor credit histories.

Two states, California and New York, began offering a lifeline assistance program pursuant to Plan 1 in 1985. New York switched to Plan 2 in November 1987.

Federal assistance for the lifeline plans was funded through the interstate carrier common line charge (CCLC) until April 1989, at which time all three plans began to be funded through direct billing of the interexchange carriers (IXCs) by NECA. Under the new funding procedures, IXCs are responsible for paying lifeline assistance if they have at least 0.05% of the nationwide presubscribed lines.

Under the new funding process, which began on April 1, 1989, the reimbursements under the program are allocated based on expenses submitted to NECA by participating LECs. NECA files a lifeline assistance rate which is billed directly to interexchange carriers. The revenues are used to pay certified exchange carriers for matching lifeline assistance costs. Further, each state determines the scope of program eligibility through the selection of means tested state assistance programs like AFDC, SSI, food stamps and medical assistance. The lifeline assistance funds are replenished from revenues of the IXCs based on the carriers' presubscribed lines.

Table 2.5 provides data, for each state with a lifeline program, which indicates the number of subscribers benefiting from the program. Table 2.6 provides data on the amount of money reimbursed by the Lifeline Assistance Program to offset the subscriber line charge waiver. Tables 2.7 and 2.8 provide similar data for the Link-Up America program. The payments to carriers shown in Tables 2.6 and 2.8 do not include local matching rate reductions. Detailed payments data, comparable to those in Tables 2.6 and 2.8, for participating telephone companies in each state is available from the Commission upon written request to the Industry Analysis Division, and through the FCC-State Link computer bulletin board (202-418-0241).

Table 2.9 shows the number of customer lines in states where lifeline and Link-Up programs have been certified through December 31, 1995.

In 1995, 4.9 million subscribers were receiving reduced monthly rates under the provisions of the lifeline programs. Rate reductions have included a combination of matching state and local telephone company discounts. The lifeline program makes it possible for unemployed low income subscribers to remain on the network, and the Link-Up program makes it possible for new subscribers to place telephone numbers on job applications, increasing employment possibilities. The Link-Up America Program which connects subscribers to the network has added 4.6 million new connections since 1987. To date, 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, participate in the optional telephone assistance programs.

Note: State commissions may request FCC certification in Federal assistance programs for all carriers in the state or for selected local exchange carriers.

Local telephone companies may request FCC certification independent of state action. Where no state action is taken, the LEC is listed in the table under participating program along with the date certified by the FCC.

State commission requests for certification may follow the approval of local companies certified by the FCC. A state commission may have two dates where certification reflects an extension of eligibility within the state to a more inclusive program for low-income subscribers.

The list of certified states and/or local telephone companies indicates the extent of participation by carriers and the availability of Lifeline and Link-Up assistance in each state.

* California is the only state still offering a Lifeline program under Plan 1 (the 50% waiver of the SLC).

3. High-Cost Assistance

On a nationwide average basis, approximately 27 percent of local exchange carrier (LEC) local loop costs are allocated to the interstate (federal) jurisdiction,¹ and 73 percent are allocated to the state jurisdiction. The average cost per loop, however, varies significantly among LECs. The Commission's high-cost assistance program enables LECs with very high per loop costs to allocate more of their loop costs to the interstate jurisdiction, thus recovering these costs from interexchange carriers and leaving less costs to be recovered through state rates. In this manner, the high-cost assistance program operates to hold down local rates and thereby furthers one of the most important goals of federal and state regulation -- the preservation of universal telephone service. Consequently, the funding of this high-cost assistance is known as the Universal Service Fund (USF). This section of the report outlines the high-cost assistance program and provides and discusses data for this program.

The Commission regulates the recovery by LECs of that portion of their total costs associated with the provision of interstate services. The states regulate the recovery of costs associated with intrastate services (local service and state long distance services). The Commission's high-cost assistance program relates to the allocation between the state and interstate jurisdictions of non-traffic sensitive (NTS) "local loop costs" -- a term that refers to the costs of outside telephone wires, poles, and other facilities that link each telephone customer's premises to the public switched telephone network. These costs are allocated between the state and interstate jurisdictions because all local loops can be used for making and receiving state and interstate telephone calls. The Universal Service Fund payments are made on a study area basis.²

Pursuant to the changes recommended by the Joint Board and adopted by the Commission, high-cost assistance was retargeted to increase benefits to small and medium sized LECs beginning in January 1988. This retargeting took the form of changes in the additional interstate cost allocation for such LECs. The old and new high-cost formulas are compared in Table 3.1.³

The Commission's high-cost assistance program was implemented during a period in which the basic interstate allocation of loop costs was shifted from a level based on the Subscriber Plant Factor (SPF) to a flat allocation factor of 25%. Both of these changes were phased in over the same eight-year transition period, ending in 1993.

- 1 Of this amount, approximately 25 percent is a direct allocation by the transitional subscriber plant factor, and approximately 2 percent is covered by the universal service fund.
 - 2 A study area is an operating company's operations in one state.
 - 3 Of course, the percentages shown in the table are in addition to the basic allocation of NTS costs to the interstate jurisdiction.

Table 3.2 shows the actual payments that have been made through the USF since its inception. The first column indicates the year in which the NTS costs were incurred. The second column indicates the year in which the USF payments were made. The third column indicates the amount of those payments, based on the product of the transition factor shown in the fourth column and the full amounts (calculated from the formulas in Table 3.1) shown in the fifth column. Any deviations in the USF amounts shown in Table 3.2 from amounts reported elsewhere (including the amounts shown in Tables 3.3, 3.8, 3.9, and 3.14) are due to subsequent quarterly data revisions.⁴

In December 1993, the Commission, at the recommendation of the Joint Board, imposed a cap on Universal Service Fund payments for 1994 and 1995. The cap is indexed to the rate of growth in the national total of working exchange loops. It is being implemented by adjusting the national average cost per loop used to calculate each study area's high-cost assistance (using the current formula from Table 3.1) from the true average value to whatever base value is required to achieve the cap. For 1995 payments, the cap was achieved by adjusting the base value cost per loop from the national average of $242.95 to $245.78. Although the Commission extended the cap to cover payments for 1996, the current amount of the payments is below the cap.

The Commission's high-cost assistance program is administered by the National Exchange Carrier Association (NECA). As part of the administration of the program, NECA collects certain cost data from LECs that provide service to approximately 98% of the nation's subscribers.⁵ Each year NECA collects NTS cost and loop data from the previous year, and uses it to distribute high-cost assistance in the following year. These reports are filed with the FCC in CC Docket 80-286. On September 30, 1995, NECA reported new data for 1994, and revised data for previous years. State totals based on that report, covering cost data for 1994, are presented in Table 3.3. This table shows unseparated NTS costs (Revenue Requirement), the number of loops, and costs per loop. It also shows the Universal Service Fund payments for 1996, based on 1994 data, using the current high-cost formula and the cap discussed above. The final column shows the percentage of the total USF that goes to companies in the state. Corresponding data for individual company study areas are presented in Table 3.9.⁶

4 The amounts shown in Tables 3.3 through 3.14 are based on year-end data. However, pursuant to section 36.612 of the Commission's rules, carriers have the option of updating their data on a rolling year basis at the end of any quarter.

5 These are the carriers that settle on a cost basis. Costs for the remaining LECs, which settle on an average schedule basis, are attributed by NECA on the basis of those carriers' average number of loops per exchange.

6 In the second column of Table 3.9, the types are cost (C) and average schedule (A). In the final column, the percentages are of the national total USF.

Each year NECA submits detailed account data used to calculate the unseparated revenue requirement per loop for each study area which settles on a cost basis, and total attributed revenue requirements for study areas that settle on an average schedule basis. In their filings since 1993, in addition to submitting such information for the latest year, NECA also submitted revised information for the four preceding years. The detailed account data are not reported here, but the most recent revision of the data for each year since 1988 is available in electronic form on the FCC-State Link electronic bulletin board.

Table 3.4 shows the changes, from the revised data for 1993 to the newly reported data for 1994, for state totals, of the unseparated NTS revenue requirement, the number of loops, the revenue requirement per loop, and the Universal Service Fund payments. The phrase, "payments in later year" in the last column refers to the fact that the payments are made two years after the costs are incurred; in this case, in the years 1995 and 1996. Table 3.10 shows comparable percentage changes for individual study areas. In the USF columns in this table, the entry "ERR" indicates that the USF was zero in the first year and positive in the second year.

Tables 3.5 through 3.8 present state summaries of the historical information filed for 1990 through 1994 in the 1995 filing. Table 3.5 shows the unseparated NTS revenue requirements for each year. Table 3.6 shows the number of loops. Table 3.7 shows the unseparated NTS revenue requirement per loop. Table 3.8 shows the Universal Service Fund payments. Corresponding data for individual study areas are presented in Tables 3.11 through 3.14.

In compiling the historical data, it is necessary to account for changes that have occurred in the study areas over time. These changes are noted in Table 3.15.⁷ In cases where study areas have merged, the pre-merger data for all of the merged study areas have been combined and reported as the data for the surviving study area. In cases where there has been an ownership change resulting in a code number change, the pre-change data is reported under the new code number and name. In the case of newly created study areas, pre-creation data is reported as 0. In Table 3.10, percentage changes in the case of mergers are comparisons of the surviving study area data with the consolidated pre-merger data, and percentage changes in the case of newly created study areas formerly served by another company are comparisons of a consolidation of the new data for both companies with the old data for the former company.

The Telecommunications Act of 1996 has asked that all subsidies be made explicit. Consequently, the Commission and the new Joint Board, in the new Docket No. 96-45, are reviewing all subsidy programs. In light of this, we note that there are currently three major

7 Because the study areas were matched between years by study area code number, changes in only the name of the company are not included in this list. Because of the two year difference between when the costs are incurred and when the USF payments are made, the timing of the changes does not always match the year in which the change appears in the NECA data files. The dates in Table 3.15 indicate the years when the changes actually occurred.

subsidy programs of support payments for high-cost local exchange carriers. The first of these is the Universal Service Fund, described in detail above. It collects money from interexchange carriers based on their presubscribed lines and distributes it to local exchange carriers based on their non-traffic sensitive costs. The second, which is also related to non-traffic sensitive costs, is Long Term Support. This collects money from local exchange carriers that are not part of NECA's common line pool, and is used to subsidize the carrier common line access charge of NECA's common line pool. This subsidy is described in greater detail in section 7 of this report. The third is dial equipment minute (DEM) weighting, which is related to traffic sensitive local switching costs. The portion of these costs which are normally allocated to interstate is determined by the ratio of interstate to total dial equipment minutes, known as the DEM factor. However, local exchange carrier study areas with 50,000 access lines or fewer have that portion increased by a weighting factor, which is determined by the number of access lines in the study area. The current weighting factors (which became effective in 1993) are 3.0 for study areas with 10,000 or fewer lines, 2.5 for study areas with 10,001 to 20,000 lines, and 2.0 for study areas with 20,001 to 50,000 lines. The resulting weighted DEM factor allows these study areas to recover a greater portion of their local switching costs from interexchange carriers in the form of higher access charges. The weighted and unweighted DEM factors are shown in section 4 of this report. On October 10, 1995, NECA filed estimates of the amounts of these subsidies by study area for 1993. These are listed in Table 3.16.

4. Network Usage and Growth

The amount of traffic carried on the public switched network is a vital concern to the Joint Board and the Commission, because the interstate toll rate decreases that have accompanied the subscriber line charge increase were designed to make use of the network more efficient and to stimulate traffic growth. To monitor use of this network, the National Exchange Carrier Association (NECA) provides quarterly reports to the Commission on the monthly volume of switched interstate access minutes of use. To supplement this information, local telephone companies that do settlements on a cost basis (hereinafter referred to as cost companies) also provide, on an annual basis, their Dial Equipment Minutes (DEM) and factors. The Joint Board recognized that much of this information was not previously collected by any single entity and that reports could be received and consolidated by some other entity (such as NECA). The data reported in this section include new data for 1994 and revisions of the data that were contained in our previous reports. In addition, all local telephone companies provide, on an annual basis, the number of presubscribed lines by study area.

This report includes monthly data on switched interstate telephone traffic as reflected in the NECA calculations of carrier common line (CCL) access minutes of use from January 1993 through December 1995. Table 4.1 shows the latest available figures on minutes of use for interstate traffic for the total industry as reported by NECA, derived from the Common Line earned revenues. Tables 4.2 and 4.3 show the figures for large (Tier 1) and small (non-Tier 1) companies, respectively.¹ These figures do not include the minutes from the closed end of WATS or 800 calls. Similar monthly data, extending back to mid-1985, are contained in earlier editions of this report. These are summarized in Table 4.4 on a quarterly basis.

Table 4.5 summarizes annual data for the total industry for 1980 through 1994 on local, state, interstate, and total DEM minutes. It also shows annual percentage growth rates and the distribution between categories of usage. Table 4.6 summarizes industry total loops from Table 3.12. Table 4.7 shows the average daily line usage. It is calculated from the values in Tables 4.5 and 4.6.

The NECA compilation of data provided by cost companies appears in Tables 4.8 through 4.22. These tables provide annual data for the years 1989 through 1994. Similar data going back to 1984 appear in the May 1993 Monitoring Report, and data going back to 1980 appear in the January 1992 Monitoring Report. In order to be more responsive to state concerns, the study areas are sorted by state, and state totals or averages (where applicable) are provided for the first time. Within each state's listing, the study areas are arranged in numerical order by their NECA

1 A Tier 1 carrier is a local exchange carrier that has $100 million or more annually in revenue from regulated telecommunications for five consecutive years. The non-Tier 1 companies include both Tier 2 cost companies and average schedule companies.

study area code.² The second column identifies whether a study area is part of a Tier 1 or a Tier 2 cost company. The data in these tables are revised and supersede the usage data in previous reports.³

Tables 4.8 through 4.14 provide data on interstate access minutes of use. For the first time, these tables include estimates for the average schedule company totals and for the total industry. Table 4.8 presents data on originating premium minutes. Table 4.9 presents data on terminating premium minutes. Table 4.10 presents data on total premium minutes. Table 4.11 shows originating non-premium minutes. Table 4.12 shows terminating non-premium minutes. Table 4.13 shows total non-premium minutes. Table 4.14 has data on total interstate access minutes, calculated as the sum of the values in Tables 4.10 and 4.13.

Tables 4.15 through 4.18 provide data on dial equipment minutes (DEM). Table 4.15 has local minutes, Table 4.16 has state minutes, Table 4.17 has interstate minutes, and Table 4.18 has total minutes.

Table 4.19 has presubscribed line data. In this table only, data are also provided for the study areas of average schedule companies (identified by an "A" in the second column). This is possible because average schedule companies are required to report line information. Therefore, for those companies, actual line data is available by study area, but not other data.

Tables 4.20 through 4.22 present data on interstate separations factors. Table 4.20 presents DEM factors for the years 1989 through 1994. These are the ratio of interstate DEM to total DEM. Table 4.21 presents weighted (or transitional) DEM factors. Table 4.22 presents transitional subscriber plant factors (SPF) for the years 1989 through 1994. It provides data only for study areas of Tier 2 companies where the SPF has not remained at 25% since 1993. Similar data for other study areas appear in the May 1995 Monitoring Report.

2 A study area is usually an operating company's operations in one state. The first two digits of the NECA study area code identify the state, and the remaining four digits identify the study area. The numerical code for each state is shown in Table 4.23.

3 In cases where study areas have merged, the historical data have been restated to reflect the merger. However, for some study areas sold by GTE/Contel in mid-1994, access minutes data for the new study areas were not available for the full year. For study areas 103316, 123321, and 143332, data were available only for August through December. These were annualized by multiplying them by 12/5. For study areas 154532, 154533, and 154534, data were available only for July through December. However, January through June data for the predecessor study areas 150096, 150119, and 150136 were available from the monthly filings for Tier 1 companies, so those were added to the data for the new study areas.

Table 4.23 provides a cross reference table of the NECA state codes that are part of their study area codes.

NECA has provided the following descriptions of the minutes of use measures:

Access MOU (both premium and non-premium) are "earned MOU" which are derived by dividing the premium or non-premium earned revenues by the corresponding rate. This definition of access minutes is in agreement with the TRP and ARMIS reports. Access minutes of use generating revenues have been discounted, which can produce distortions in revenue amounts. Further, revenues are normalized to include changes in terminating/originating and percent interstate use factors, billing adjustments, and the imputations of access charges (where applicable). Revenues are also calendarized, which will change derived minutes.

Premium CCL access MOU consist of feature groups A and B traffic originating from or terminating at offices converted to equal access, plus all feature groups C and D, and interstate intraLATA MOU. Non-premium CCL access MOU consist of feature groups A and B traffic originating from or terminating at offices not converted to equal access.

Dial Equipment Minutes (DEM) represent all switched holding time minutes in a local dial office. DEM is defined in the FCC rules, Part 36, paragraph 125(b). It is composed of all originating and terminating exchange, MTS, 800, and out-WATS MOU. DEM represents exchange, LEC intraLATA and corridor toll, and feature group A, B, C, and D MOU. (Please note that due to its unique switching arrangements, feature group A in DEM includes both serving office and end office MOU.) DEM does not include MOU in directly terminated toll stations or similar facilities, because they do not use local dial office facilities.

5. Rates

This section contains information on telephone price indexes and rate levels. First, it describes and presents a series of price indexes maintained by the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS). Second, it discusses rate levels and changes in average rate levels. Third, it summarizes information on state telephone rate cases.

A. CHANGES IN TELEPHONE SERVICE PRICE INDEXES:

The BLS collects information on telephone service as part of three separate programs -- the Consumer Price Index (CPI), the Producer Price Index (PPI), and the Consumer Expenditure Survey. The monthly price indexes represent prices sampled in the middle of the month.

1. Long-Term Trends in the Overall Price of Telephone Service:

A Consumer Price Index for telephone services was first published in 1935.¹ Since that time, telephone prices have tended to increase at a slower pace than most other prices. The most recent data are for April 1996. For the 12 months ending April 1996 the nation's overall level of prices (measured by the CPI for all items) rose by 2.9%. The CPI for telephone services fell by 0.2% during the same period. The CPI for telephone services is composed of three subindexes. During the most recent 12 months, the local service component (including subscriber line charges) fell by 2.0%, while the price index for interstate toll calls rose by 4.1% and the price index for state toll calls rose by 2.9%.

Table 5.1 shows long-run changes in the Consumer Price Indexes for all items, all services, telephone services, each of the seven major categories that currently constitute the overall CPI, and several services that are often characterized as public utilities. The price of telephone service has increased less rapidly than the prices of most of these categories when viewed over a long period of time.²

1 BLS publishes two sets of Consumer Price Indexes. The CPI-U, used herein, is based on expenditures of all urban consumers. The CPI-W series is based on expenditures of urban wage earners and clerical workers.

2 For a description of the methodologies used by the BLS in calculating price indexes, see Reference Book: Rates, Price Indexes, and Household Expenditures for Telephone Service, published by the FCC in November 1995.

2. Recent Annual Changes in the Overall Price of Telephone Service:

The CPI index of telephone services is based on a "market basket" intended to represent the telephone-related expenditures of a typical urban household. It includes both local and long distance services. Changes in telephone prices tend to lag behind other price changes. Overall inflation in the American economy peaked in 1979 and 1980. In contrast, the price of telephone services rose most rapidly during the years 1981 through 1984, with the rate of increase declining since then. The annual rate of change during recent years is shown in Table 5.2 for the Gross National Product fixed weight price index (which reflects inflation throughout the economy), the overall CPI (which measures the impact of inflation on consumers), and the CPI for telephone services.

3. Price Indexes for Local Service:

The Bureau of Labor Statistics publishes a number of price indexes related to local telephone service, two of which are important to the monitoring program. The CPI index of local telephone charges is based on a broadly defined "market basket" of local services that includes monthly service charges, message unit charges, equipment, installation, additional services (such as Touch-Tone and Call Waiting), taxes, subscriber line charges, and all other consumer expenditures associated with local telephone services except long distance charges. In contrast, the PPI index of monthly residential rates is much more narrowly defined. It is based only on monthly service charges for residential service, optional Touch-Tone service, and subscriber line charges. It excludes taxes and all other telephone service charges. The annual rates of change for these two indexes are presented in Table 5.3. In the CPI index, about half of the 1984 increase occurred during January, reflecting adjustments made at the time of AT&T's divestiture of its operating companies.

The PPI telephone service indexes were discontinued in August 1995. At that time the BLS introduced revenue-weighted telephone price indexes. The new indexes have not been incorporated in this report.

4. Price Indexes for Long Distance Service:

CPI data are available for intrastate toll and interstate toll services since December 1977. Table 5.4 presents the annual changes in these series for recent years. Interstate toll rates fell between 1983 and 1990, and intrastate toll rates have generally fallen since 1987.

Starting in 1993, long distance carriers began raising basic long distance rates while at the same time offering large discounts to high volume residential customers. The average amount paid by residential customers for each minute of interstate calling probably fell between 1992 and 1994. The CPI long distance indexes were heavily weighted for basic rate customers through 1994 and therefore show interstate rates increasing during this period. During late 1994, the Bureau of Labor Statistics increased the weight given to discount plans.

Monthly data for the CPI telephone indexes are shown in Table 5.5. Monthly data for PPI indexes are shown in Table 5.6.

B. INFORMATION ON RATE LEVELS:

This section describes the level of local and long distance rates and access charges in dollar terms.

1. Local Rates

Local rates are regulated by state regulatory agencies and vary greatly from area to area. Characterization of any rate as "typical" is therefore difficult. In most states, the Bell operating companies and larger independent telephone companies charge higher rates in metropolitan areas than in rural areas -- a pricing practice that dates back to the turn of the century and is traditionally justified by the belief that the value of the service provided is higher for subscribers with more populous local calling areas. This also reflects the fact that the operating companies forego toll revenue when exchange calling areas increase in size. California differs from most states in that rates for each carrier are averaged throughout the state.

Table 5.7 presents average local residential rates. The price indexes published by the BLS indicate percentage changes in the price of the telephone services. The BLS does not publish the actual level of rates. The averages shown in Table 5.7 are based on a FCC survey using the same sampling areas and weights used by the BLS in constructing the Consumer Price Index.³ In October 1995, the national average for flat rate residential service was $13.66 monthly. Lower-priced service alternatives are frequently available, at an average monthly charge of $6.60. Customers also pay monthly subscriber line charges and taxes.

The local rate averages shown in Table 5.7 are based on rates that are available to all customers. Many states have programs that subsidize monthly service charges or connection fees paid by needy households. These programs are further described in Section 2 above. Most of these programs are part of the FCC-sponsored lifeline and Link-Up programs. The most recent compiled local rate survey, reflecting data as of October 15, 1995, indicated that assistance for monthly service charges was offered in 70 of the 95 sample cities, representing 74% of urban consumers. Connection assistance was offered in 90 of the 95 sample cities representing 96% of urban consumers. In October 1995, lifeline and similar assistance programs provided an average benefit of $9.06 per month. Link-Up and similar connection assistance programs reduced connection costs by an average of $26.66.

Table 5.8 presents average monthly rates for single line business customers. Like the residential rates presented above, they are based on a FCC survey using the same sampling areas and weights used by the BLS in constructing the Consumer Price Index.

³ For a discussion of methodology, see Reference Book: Rates, Price Indexes, and Household Expenditures for Telephone Service, published by the FCC in November 1995

2. Long Distance Rates

Table 5.9 compares the prices of directly dialed interstate long distance calls in all mileage bands and rate periods based on AT&T, MCI, and Sprint tariffed rates in effect during January 1984 and May 1996. During this period, AT&T's per-minute charges for directly dialed interstate calls were reduced about 30%. These rates are the basic message toll service rates and do not reflect discounts available only in special calling plans. They also do not reflect any taxes or any surcharges imposed by some states. All of the rate decreases occurred before 1993. Since August 1992, most basic schedule rate elements have increased by between 7% and 25%. For example, AT&T's basic charges for coast-to-coast calls increased by more than 20%.

Table 5.9 shows rates for 5-minute calls for residential and commercial customers. Starting in 1993, AT&T, MCI, and Sprint required single line and other business customers to use new commercial rates. These commercial rate schedules do not separate the off-peak period by evening and night, and the schedules have fewer mileage bands. In fact, Sprint commercial customers pay the same rate regardless of mileage. Table 5.9 shows rates for the rate categories that existed in 1984.

3. Subscriber Line and Access Charges

Monthly subscriber line charges (or "end user" charges) were first imposed in 1984 and were charged to residential customers beginning in 1985. These charges were introduced to reduce the per-minute Carrier Common Line (CCL) access charges, enabling reductions in interstate toll rates. Table 5.10 presents the level of these charges over time. In 1993, costs and investment (including land and buildings) for general support facilities were transferred from the traffic sensitive category to the non-traffic sensitive category, causing an increase in subscriber line charges and CCL charges and a reduction in traffic sensitive access charges.

Access charges by local telephone companies to long distance carriers are an important component of the overall cost of providing long distance service. Table 5.11 shows the history of the average levels of these charges.

The CCL charges shown in Table 5.11 represent national averages. Table 5.12 presents terminating and originating charges by carrier. Some carriers, such as Ameritech, file averaged rates for all of their study areas. Pacific Telesis, on the other hand, files separate rates for California and Nevada. In addition to showing the rates currently in effect, the table shows rates proposed to go into effect on August 1, 1996. Carriers will refile rates after FCC review.

Table 5.12 shows average CCL rates weighted by the terminating and originating minutes provided in the carrier's April 1996 rate filings. Because of differences in weights -- minutes filed in 1995 versus minutes filed in 1996 -- the weighted averages shown in Table 5.12 can be slightly different from the weighted averages shown in Table 5.11. The data in table 5.12 suggest that, on average, carriers are proposing to reduce CCL rates by about 1.2%, compared with rates in effect in August 1995. The rates shown for the NECA pool carriers reflect long-term support from the Universal Service Fund. Given our current accounting rules, the NECA pool rates would be 3 to 4 times higher if long term support were not available.

Table 5.13 shows proposed interstate access charges by carrier, including traffic sensitive and fixed-charge transport charges expressed as per-minute charges. The table also shows an average charge per conversation minute using each carrier's originating, terminating, traffic sensitive and fixed-charge transport charges. These rates are intended to be illustrative, since most interstate calls originate with one local exchange carrier and terminate with another.

The Universal Service Fund, which subsidizes local exchange service in high-cost areas, and the lifeline assistance program, which subsidizes service for low-income households, are funded by the larger interexchange carriers. Carriers serving .05% or more of all presubscribed lines pay a fixed charge per presubscribed line per month. Table 5.14 shows the monthly charges per presubscribed line, the number of lines used as the basis for billings, and the total billings to interexchange carriers.

C. STATE TELEPHONE RATE CASES:

The actions of state regulatory commissions once provided important indicators of future local and state toll rate levels. Rate cases completed by the state commissions tended to result in immediate rate changes. At the same time, the amount of rate relief requested by local telephone companies, but not yet acted upon by state commissions, provided an indication of future rate changes.

At the time of divestiture, rate cases pending before state public utility commissions totaled nearly $7 billion. During the first half of 1984, state commissions completed action on a number of extraordinarily large rate cases, ordering rate changes that resulted in overall revenue increases of about $3.2 billion. After the first half of 1984, however, the level of activity in state cases diminished substantially. In the middle of 1995, the total amount of rate increases requested and pending before state commissions was about $366 million. During each of the last eight years, the dollar amount of rate reductions and refunds ordered by state commissions exceeded the dollar amount of rate increases authorized. Because it typically took more than a year for a rate case to be completed, the level of pending cases served as an indicator of the rate changes for local and intrastate toll service during the next year. In recent years, however, more and more states have moved away from traditional rate of return regulation and adopted alternative regulatory approaches. As a result, changes in telephone rates are no longer as closely linked to rate cases. Consequently, the FCC discontinued its reporting requirement on state rate cases in 1995.

Table 5.15 reflects data on pending state rate cases that were reported by the Bell operating companies, GTE, and Sprint (United/Centel). Because these companies are no longer required to report rate case activity, the table stops with the second quarter of 1995.

However, BEA has not published GDP fixed weight price indexes for years prior to 1982. The table shows annual rates of changes based on most recently published data -- GNP prior to 1982 and GDP starting in 1982.

^{1/} The weighted average national rates are calculated from the rates of price cap companies and companies in the National Exchange Carrier Association (NECA) pool and excludes companies filing under rate of return or optional incentive rules. The carriers covered comprise approximately 95% of the industry total. In developing the weighted average rate, the weight given an individual company's rate equals its number of telephone subscribers as a percent of the total for carriers included.

^{2/} The rate charged to residential and single-line business customers has been capped at $3.50 since 1989. Carriers are not permitted to charge the full amount unless justified by their underlying costs. As a result, a few companies charge less than the full $3.50.

^{3/} The rate charged to multiline business customers has been capped at $6.00 since subscriber line charges were introduced. Carriers are not permitted to charge the full amount unless justified by the underlying costs. As a result, some companies charge less than the full $6.00.

^{4/} This is the maximum rate applied to centrex lines that were in place or on order as of July 27, 1983. Prior to April 1, 1989, these "embedded" centrex lines paid a lower subscriber line charge than did new centrex lines. Customers with new centrex lines paid the multiline business subscriber line charge. Since April 1, 1989, however, all centrex lines pay the multiline business subscriber line charge, which is capped at $6.00.

- 1/ The weighted average national charges are calculated from the charges of price cap companies and companies in the National Exchange Carrier Association (NECA) pool and excludes companies filing under rate of return or optional incentive rules. The carriers covered comprise approximately 95% of the industry total. Weights for calculating nationwide averages are based on company minutes of use (mou). The specific items being weighted are: originating carrier common line (CCL) mou for Column A; terminating CCL mou for Column B; and local switching mou for Columns C and D. Prior to 4/1/89, CCL charges were nationally uniform. Data in this table have been revised from data originally published.
- 2/ Column C equals revenue from per minute charges (non-CCL) divided by local switching minutes.
- 3/ Column D is the average revenue per minute from fixed-monthly access charges (entrance facility and direct trunked transport charges). Beginning 12/30/93, transport service revenue was recovered through a combination of per minute and fixed-monthly charges. Starting with the 7/1/94 period, Column D equals revenue from fixed monthly charges divided by local switching minutes of use. In prior periods in this table, all transport revenue is reflected in Column C.
- 4/ Column E is the switched access charge per conversation minute. Originating access minutes are about 7% higher than terminating access minutes, because originating access minutes include time involved with call set-up and uncompleted calls. The access charge per conversation minute for a call that both originates and terminates with LECs, equals $[1.07 \times (\text{Col. A} + \text{Col. C})] + \text{Col. B} + \text{Col. C} + (2 \times \text{Col. D})$.

^{1/} Where a company has different charges in different operating areas, the charges shown represent weighted averages for all of the company's regions and affiliates. Weights for calculating carrier averages are based on company minutes of use (mou). The specific items being weighted are: originating carrier common line (CCL) mou for Column A; terminating CCL mou for Column B; and local switching mou for Columns C and D.

^{2/} Column C equals revenue from per minute charges (non - CCL) divided by local switching minutes.

^{3/} Column D is the average revenue per minute from fixed monthly access charges (representing entrance facility and direct trunked transport charges). Beginning 12/30/93, transport service revenue was recovered through a combination of per minute and fixed monthly charges. Column D equals revenue from fixed monthly charges divided by local switching minutes of use.

^{4/} Column E is the switched access charge per conversation minute. Originating access minutes are about 7% higher than terminating access minutes, because originating access minutes include time involved with call set-up and uncompleted calls. The access charge per conversation minute for a call that both originates and terminates with LECs, equals [1.07 x (Col. A + Col. C)] + Col. B + Col. C + (2 x Col. D).

*Billings are made by NECA to interchange carriers who have more than .05% of the nationwide total presubscribed lines. These carriers serve approximately 98% of total presubscribed lines. The 149.2 million access lines shown for January 1, 1996 are the number of presubscribed line reported as of December 31, 1995 by the carriers currently required to contribute to the Univer Service Fund.

^{1/} In August 1995, the FCC's Common Carrier Bureau eliminated the requirement that information on state rate case activity be reported by the largest local telephone companies. Therefore, second quarter 1995 is the final entry.

6. Revenues, Expenses, and Investment

This section provides information on revenues, expenses and investment based on the ARMIS reports filed with the Commission by Tier 1 carriers. The information included in this section is calculated from some of the summary information in ARMIS. The original data plus more detailed data can be found in the ARMIS reports, which are available for public access on the FCC-State Link Bulletin Board, which can be reached by dialing (202) 418-0241 with a computer modem.

The source of the data in this section is ARMIS Quarterly Report 43-01, prescribed for every local exchange carrier with operating revenues for the preceding year in excess of $100 million. The report is filed on a study area basis and includes data on revenues, expenses and investment to enable the Commission to monitor the carriers' operations. For this section, information was derived from Report 43-01 for the fourth quarter of 1995 using the year-to-date totals.

Table 6.1 shows Revenues and Other Operating Items.

Table 6.2 shows Expenses and Taxes.

Table 6.3 shows Gross Investment.

Table 6.4 shows Total Investment Reserves--row 1890 of the ARMIS report.

Table 6.5 shows Net Income which is the difference between

Table 6.1--Revenues and Other Operating Items.

Table 6.7 shows Net Revenues--row 1090 of the ARMIS report.

Table 6.8 shows Other Operating Income or Loss--row 1290 of the ARMIS report.

Tables 6.9 through 6.12 show the detail items that when aggregated constitute Table 6.2--Expenses and Taxes.

Table 6.9 shows Total Operating Expenses--row 1190 of the ARMIS report.

Table 6.10 shows Total Non-operating Items--row 1390 of the ARMIS report.

Table 6.11 shows Federal Income Taxes--row 1590 of the ARMIS report.

Table 6.12 shows Total Other Taxes--row 1490 of the ARMIS report.

Tables 6.13 and 6.14 show the detail items that when aggregated constitute Table 6.3--Gross Investment.

Table 6.13 shows Total Plant Investment--row 1690 of the ARMIS report.

Table 6.14 shows Total Other Investments--row 1790 of the ARMIS report.

Each table in this section contains columns headed Subject to Separations, Intrastate, and Interstate.¹ The Subject to Separations column reflects the total amount that is subject to separations allocation between the state and interstate jurisdictions pursuant to Part 36 of the Commission's Rules. The Interstate and Intrastate columns reflect the amounts allocated to the interstate and state jurisdictions pursuant to those rules. In some instances, the Interstate column also reflects FCC prescribed adjustments made after the separations process. These adjustments are made only at the interstate level; consequently, the Intrastate and Interstate columns may not necessarily add up to the Subject to Separations column.

Each table also contains a column headed Percent Interstate. The data in this column is calculated by dividing the data in the Interstate column by the data in the Subject to Separations column.

Table 6.6--Average Net Investment--has one additional column headed Interstate Rate of Return. The data in this column is calculated by dividing the data in the Interstate column of Table 6.5--Net Income--by the data in the Interstate column of Table 6.6.

¹ These are reported in columns (f), (g), and (h) in the ARMIS 43-01 reports. The numbers are in thousands of dollars.

NOTES:

1. 17 Tier 1 carriers furnished the data for 132 study areas used in this report. The data covers all 50 states (except Alaska), the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico and Micronesia.

2. Commonwealth Telephone Company in Pennsylvania is the largest average schedule company in the country and the only average schedule company required to file the ARMIS 43-01 report. Since they are an average schedule company they do not have to separate their Subject to Separations data into Intrastate and Interstate; hence N/A's will be found in these columns and all percentage columns.

7. Pooling

The transition to jurisdictionally specific Carrier Common Line (CCL) access charges occurred on April 1, 1989. Prior to that time, all local exchange carriers (LECs) were required to be part of the National Exchange Carrier Association (NECA) common line (CL) pool, and CCL rates were uniform nationwide. The following LECs withdrew from the CL pool at that time: Ameritech, Bell Atlantic, BellSouth, Centel, Cincinnati Bell, Continental Telecom, GTE, NYNEX, Pacific Telesis, Rochester Telephone, Seneca-Gorham Telephone, Southern New England Telephone, Southwestern Bell, US West, United Telephone System, and Warwick Valley. Seneca-Gorham has since been acquired by Rochester Telephone. On July 1, 1990, Great Plains Communications and Hughes Telephone also withdrew from the NECA CL pool. On July 1, 1991, Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph and Rochester Telephone's other cost study areas also withdrew from the NECA CL pool.

The latest nationwide pool results provided by NECA are shown in Tables 7.1 and 7.2. Table 7.1 summarizes the CL pool revenues and expenses for the year 1995, as well as a comparison with the corresponding figures for 1994. Table 7.2 has comparable figures for NECA's voluntary traffic sensitive pool.

To reduce disparities in CCL rates after companies were permitted to withdraw from the CL pool, two support mechanisms were set up. Transitional support consisted of payments from low cost companies that withdrew from the pool to high cost companies that withdrew from the pool. The transition period has now ended. Long term support (LTS) consists of payments to the NECA CL pool from companies that withdrew from the NECA CL pool. Companies remaining in the pool, administered by NECA, have identical CCL rates, equal to the average CCL rate of the price cap companies, which is currently 0.83 cents per minute.

NECA calculates LTS payments as follows. They begin by computing the CCL revenue requirement of LECs in the NECA CL pool by subtracting their subscriber line charge (SLC) revenues from their total CL revenue requirements. NECA then calculates the average per-minute CCL charge for price cap LECs, and projects the revenues that LECs participating the NECA pool would expect to collect by charging that average CCL rate. The difference between these amounts is the projected pool member deficit, which is then provided to pool members in the form of LTS payments. LECs who are not in the pool fund LTS support in proportion to their share of the total number of common lines of all LECs contributing to the pool. LECs outside the pool then recover these LTS costs through their own CCL charges.

NECA's latest report on the dimensions of LTS payments among the LECs, based on the tariffs that became effective on July 1, 1994, follows. Table 7.3 shows the LTS payments made by Contributors, in support of those companies remaining in the NECA CL pool. Chart 7.1 summarizes the sources of revenue for the NECA CL pool, showing the distribution of funds from LTS, CCL charges, subscriber line charges, and special access surcharges. It also shows the distribution of LTS payments made by Contributors.

LTS subsidies per minute of use could be determined by dividing the total industry LTS payments by the total minutes of use in the NECA CL pool. However, FCC rules¹ limit the maximum premium originating CCL rate to one cent, while the premium terminating CCL rate has no maximum. Therefore, the subsidy per minute can be stated as an originating subsidy and a terminating subsidy. The originating subsidy is 0.17 cents per chargeable originating minute.² This is the one cent maximum less the current rate of 0.83 cents. The terminating subsidy is 3.22 cents per chargeable terminating minute. This can be calculated by multiplying the 0.17 cents by the NECA CL pool's 10,592,564,101 chargeable originating minutes and then subtracting the result from the LTS for the July 1, 1995, through June 30, 1996, Test Period of $405,621,707. The difference of $387,614,348 is then divided by the 12,056,281,972 chargeable terminating minutes to calculate the terminating subsidy per minute.

1 See Part 69.105(b)(2)(i).

2 Chargeable minutes of use are equal to premium minutes of use plus 45 percent of nonpremium minutes of use.

8. Infrastructure and New Services

The infrastructure information contained in this section is based upon ARMIS data collected by the FCC as part of the price cap monitoring set up in CC Docket No. 87-313. In addition, states and companies are encouraged to voluntarily submit whatever information they wish to share about new experimental services or infrastructure.

The source of the data in this section is ARMIS Report 43-07, filed each year at the end of June, prescribed for local exchange carriers subject to mandatory price-cap regulation.¹ The information reported here is for the years 1990 through 1994. This summary is intended to highlight underlying changes in the use of technology in the local telephone company plant.

The ARMIS 43-07 reports are required to be filed only by those local exchange companies originally subject to mandatory price-cap regulation--the Bell operating companies and the telephone operating companies owned by GTE.² Together, these large companies provide service to more than 90% of the nation's telephone lines. The data are generally filed at the "study area" level (typically a company's operations within a state). The state-by-state data, including, in some cases, disaggregation into Metropolitan Statistical Area (MSA) and non-MSA detail, are available from the FCC-State Link electronic bulletin board.³

The information summarized in this section is in two tables: Table 8.1 shows switching system data, and Table 8.2 shows transmission system data. Each table contains segments for each of the regional Bell companies, one for the companies owned by GTE, and two that summarize data for the Bell companies and for all reporting companies. The data summarized for each holding company reflect the aggregate of data filed for individual states or study areas and should be useful in assessing overall trends.

- 1 ARMIS, an acronym for Automated Reporting Management Information System, is a repository of financial, plant, demand, and quality of service data needed to administer various provisions of the Commission's Rules. Additional infrastructure data are contained in the ARMIS 43-08 report. See Statistics of Communications Common Carriers, published annually by the FCC (Industry Analysis Division) for a compilation of 43-08 infrastructure data.
 - 2 See Policy and Rules Concerning Rates for Dominant Carriers, CC Docket No. 87-313, 5 FCC Rcd 6786 (1990) (LEC Price Cap Order), Erratum, 5 FCC Rcd 7664 (1990). See also Policy and Rules Concerning Rates for Dominant Carriers, CC Docket No. 87-313, 8 FCC Rcd 7474 (1993).
 - 3 This section presents an extract of the infrastructure data contained in the report entitled "Infrastructure of the Local Operating Companies Aggregated to the Holding Company Level," released April 24, 1995, and includes revisions to 1993 data in the All Companies table of that report.

The data has been aggregated where region-wide or company-wide composites were not filed. Many of the company composites have been recalculated to facilitate tracking of errors. A number of obvious discrepancies in the calculation of totals were corrected and may account for small differences between company-filed totals and the ones presented here. Most of these discrepancies were identified as being associated with cumulative effects of rounding, typically associated with data presented in thousands. Some of the data originally filed by the companies contained errors, particularly in the earlier years. A number of the obvious errors have been corrected by subsequent refiling, but caution should be observed because errors may still be present. GTE and Contel provided company totals have been aggregated into a single GTE composite. There have been many structural and ownership changes within GTE and several discrepancies were identified with its data. Since GTE did not file any revisions in response to our inquiry, the user should exercise caution when using its data.

The full range of infrastructure data received in the ARMIS 43-07 reports and the items listed below that are contained in Tables 8.1 and 8.2 are described in the report entitled "Infrastructure of the Local Operating Companies Aggregated to the Holding Company Level" along with data qualifications and observations about the data itself. The user should also refer to the source data, which contain more detailed study area information. Further analysis supplemented with data from state regulatory commissions may be needed to address localized issues.

Description of the Technologies and Analysis of the Data

The data in the attached tables provide a historical series for a variety of plant elements that illustrate the development of technology in the networks of the major local exchange carriers. The data items were originally developed to assist in dealing with depreciation matters, but they also provide a picture of the key technologies presently in use. For example, although the issue of fiber in the local loop has gained a great deal of attention because of its potential for facilitating development of wideband video services, the progression of lower data rate digital technologies to greater numbers of customers through an increased use of digital local access has been occurring for some time now but has received relatively little attention. Both switching and transmission technology provide the building blocks that make this possible. In the switch, Signalling System 7 (SS7) provides a means for networks and interoffice switches to communicate with each other. This system uses a separate digital link outside the voice channel to accomplish this. Other elements in the data relating to equal access switches and touch-tone capable switches show that most switches now support equal access and that nearly all switching terminations are equipped to handle touch tone dialing.

Integrated Services Digital Network (ISDN) technology provides the service protocols and channel designations for digital services to customers and can convey voice, computer data or compressed video. Basic rate ISDN services are provided as two 64-kilobit data channels and one 16-kilobit control channel associated with each basic rate access line. The control channels allow the transfer of special information between the switch and the customer, unavailable with inband signalling, as well as advanced network control features presently used in a number of enhanced services. Primary rate ISDN provides the capacity of twenty-three 64-kilobit data channels and one 64-kilobit control channel. Although these services can potentially provide for improved communication between computers, the lack of a critical mass of customers using ISDN has been a major stumbling block in the proliferation of end-to-end digital services. This is borne out in the statistics. Availability of the service is significant and expanding with a 27.5% increase in the number of Bell Company ISDN capable switches and a 31.2% increase in basic rate interfaces in 1994. The most significant growth for the Bell Companies was a 448% increase in access interfaces for primary rate service, which is typically used by businesses. However, only a small portion of the total loops presently are equipped for ISDN service. Although this service is best equipped to serve personal computers, its attractiveness for this purpose has been reduced by the small available user community. Greater ISDN use by residential customers with personal computers that could vastly expand the user community has been limited at least partly because of issues involving interconnectivity among customers using analog lines with modems and customers using ISDN lines. Digital lines had been marketed as a means to provide enhanced voice services that were largely targeted to business customers, while analog lines with modems are typically used by to provide digital communication between computers. This is beginning to change with increasing attractiveness of ISDN for internet access and provision of world wide web pages by businesses. ⁴

A number of transmission elements are included in the tables. These illustrate the rapid development of fiber capacity in terms of terminations, sheath-kilometers, and links. The tables also highlight the relative magnitude of equipped and working channels, providing an indication of termination equipment utilization. Declines in the number of analog links are beginning to be reflected in declining use of interoffice copper facilities and the number of interoffice fiber carrier links now significantly exceeds the number of copper carrier links for all companies shown. Although data on links and channels show that circuits connecting local central offices could typically be provided on only two fibers, the economics of fiber deployment have resulted in deployments of typical fiber cables containing more than 35 fibers. This suggests that there is a huge amount of fiber capacity presently unused in the interoffice transmission plant.⁵

4 Availability and cost of terminal adaptor equipment that facilitates communication between computers using ISDN lines and those using standard analog lines have been factors limiting attractiveness of residential ISDN. The costs have been mitigated for businesses that offer World Wide Web home pages or use modem banks to share some of this equipment over more end users. While increased use by businesses will likely be the most significant driving force leading to improved efficiencies in providing ISDN service, sharing arrangements in the central office along with new marketing, pricing and regulatory approaches might facilitate further reduction in the cost of residential computer to computer ISDN service, leading to a critical mass of users that could drive down ISDN costs further. By promoting large-scale digital access using facilities that are largely already in place, improvements to existing ISDN service would effectively promote development of video and broadband applications.

Although the overall level of growth in fiber has been high, its use in the local loop is presently relatively small. At the end of 1994, the Bell Operating Companies had installed about 187 million copper pair mainframe terminations in their central offices for local loop use. In contrast, about 679,000 fiber terminations had been installed at that point. Since these fibers are not necessarily in current use and since there is a greater potential for more than one access line to be provided on one fiber than on one copper pair, especially nearer to the central offices, the ultimate number of central office fiber terminations needed to equip all access lines for fiber is expected to be considerably lower than the present number of copper terminations. However, due to the fact that less sharing of transmission facilities is possible in the portion of plant closest to customers, the cost of providing loop capacity nearest to the customer is greatest. Based on the above considerations, it is likely that significantly fewer than 679,000 fibers actually terminate on customer premises.

5 A large portion of the cost of fiber deployment is associated with labor and installation rather than with the cable itself. Thus, the incremental cost of installing a larger fiber cable is typically relatively small. This suggests that the sheath-kilometer parameter shown in the attached tables may be a better measure of fiber coverage than fiber-kilometers. In general, care should be exercised in interpreting aggregate fiber data when determining, for example, whether fiber is concentrated in certain parts of a company's service area with relatively little fiber elsewhere. See FCC Fiber Deployment Update - End of Year 1994, released on July 12, 1995.

Customer Response

Publication: Monitoring Report
 May 1996

You can help us provide the best possible information to the public by completing this form and returning it to the Industry Analysis Division of the FCC's Common Carrier Bureau.

1. Please check the category that best describes you:

- press
- current telecommunications carrier
- potential telecommunications carrier
- business customer evaluating vendors/service options
- consultant, law firm, lobbyist
- other business customer
- academic/student
- residential customer
- FCC employee
- other federal government employee
- state or local government employee
- Other (please specify) _____

2. Please rate the report: Excellent Good Satisfactory Poor No opinion
